As a customer-oriented company, ACE AGRO CORP. has made every effort to calm its customers' minds and pave the way for achieving their goals. One of the ways of this company is to inform the clients about the current situation in the market and the forecasts through which they can continue their business with a more open mind. The report provided with a schedule every two weeks helps us in this crucial matter.

According to Environment Canada, Canada will experience warmer-than-normal weather in the next three months. The probability of overheating in prairies is 40%, and it will be more in the western parts of this country. It is said that these climate changes will cause effects and transformation in the growth of plants and agricultural products, which is not a positive point to experts. Talking about lentils and Canada, we could see how this climate change and sudden drought caused problems for farmers, buyers, suppliers, and even the government.

Although we saw rains that promised the end of the drought during October, this did not happen ultimately. According to the president of World Weather Inc., these rains reduced the stress but did not eliminate it. Areas like West and South Alberta and parts of Saskatchewan are still struggling.

The Canadian Grain Commission (CGC) reports that while October exports were lower than September, bulk exports were higher than last year. This decline in exports can be attributed to the critical subject with the name of Australia. Many importing countries are waiting for the Australian product to be able to satisfy themselves with its lower price. However, it should be noted that we have to wait and see how much the Australian lentil lowers its price.
